

ROTARIANS HEAR OUTLINED PLAN OF EXPOSITION

Pan-Pacific Project is Presented By Alexander Hume Ford at Meeting Today

Plans for the Pan-Pacific Exposition were outlined by Alexander Hume Ford at the Rotary Club this noon. Mr. Ford gave a clear outline of the work that is planned for the big celebration. No discussion occurred on behalf of the members of the club, but those present paid careful attention to the address as delivered. Mr. Ford said:

Exposition Plans Explained.
"I was at a gathering the other day at the University Club. It was a meeting of representatives from the Pacific nationalities living here in Hawaii. The topic up for discussion was the proposed Pan-Pacific exposition to be held in Honolulu. In the heat and midst of the proceedings a member of the newly appointed advisory and finance committee interrupted to remark somewhat as follows: 'The possibilities of this thing for Hawaii loom up big; all the Pacific nationalities seem to be behind it; it is going to cost money. We've got to raise it; now let's get busy and drop enthusiasm for determination.' And this was done."

"Now, gentlemen, I understand that this is the motive power of the Rotarians, determination to always forge ahead along the road of progress. I am more than pleased therefore that you have asked me here today to say something of the plans of the proposed Pan-Pacific exposition in Honolulu during 1919."

"Nearly every race of the Pacific is gathered here in Hawaii. This has become their home. We must work with them and they with us for the best for Hawaii. Therefore in the building of the exposition city in Honolulu let the aim be toward permanency in everything, and in this the other nationalities have expressed a desire to help."

Idea is Not New.

"The Pan-Pacific workers have looked forward for years to this exposition. It was in their mind seven years ago when the foundations were laid for the present Japanese Park along Nuuanu stream. Several acres have been secured here which are even now available as the nucleus of an exposition site. This is really a Pan-Pacific park, for while it has been improved by the Japanese, it was Queen Liliuokalani and others of several nationalities who donated the land about Waikahala Falls that made the beginning. This region on either side of Nuuanu stream, between School and Kapiolani streets, is already one of the most beautiful small natural parks in the world. It should and doubtless will be the nucleus of the 1919 Pan-Pacific exposition grounds. The size of it, extending to Liliuokalani street, is about 25 acres of available unimproved property, procurable and ideal for park or exposition purposes."

Prompt Action Urged.

"It takes determination to get people together to work together for each other, but this the Pan-Pacific Club has undertaken to do for Hawaii. Men of all Pacific races here have promised and are giving their cooperation. They will interest their people across the sea and men of financial power are ready to do their share. Some will discourage us—that always happens, and the time will come when we shall have to put our backs against the wall and show our determination, but will alone is great—all things give way before it sooner or later, and in 1919 we shall hold a Pan-Pacific exposition in Honolulu and we wish your cooperation. I thank you."

U. S. MAY NEVER COLLECT FINES GRAY WITH AGE

Penalties Imposed on Vessels Which Have Since Ceased to Call in Jurisdiction

With all but one of the vessels in question now out of the jurisdiction of the local federal court, the United States district attorney's office has been instructed to bring action in 11 admiralty cases where fines were imposed upon a like number of ships by the customs officials here, but which were never prosecuted by former district attorneys in an attempt to collect.

In each instance the fines were imposed for the reason that opium was found on the vessels in question and the drug was not scheduled in the manifests. Some of the cases date back as far as 1912, but the majority were opened during the incumbency of Jeff McCann. District Attorney S. C. Huber says he will bring action at once "providing the vessels are still in the jurisdiction of this court."

The schedule of the cases is as follows:

Siberia, fined on April 13, 1911. Fine mitigated to $300. Case reported to district attorney on June 6, 1914.

China, fined on April 22, 1911. Mitigated to $25. Reported on June 16, 1914. Fined again on May 16, 1911, mitigated to $25, and reported on June 16, 1914.

Siberia, fined June 30, 1911, mitigated to $100. Reported on July 6, 1914. Fined again on June 30, 1911, mitigated to $25. Reported on June 15, 1914.

Mongolia, fined August 28, 1912, mitigated to $25. Reported on January 9, 1913.

Manchuria, fined on August 29, 1912, mitigated to $25. Reported on July 7, 1914.

Korea, fined on February 25, 1913, mitigated to $50. Reported on June 6, 1914.

Siberia, fined on March 10, 1913, mitigated to $50. Reported on June 15, 1914.

Manchuria, fined in September 16, 1913, mitigated to $5. Reported on June 6, 1914.

Siberia, fined October 24, 1914, mitigated to $75. Reported on March 4, 1914.

ALL DENY RESPONSIBILITY OF INCINERATING AWNING

Instead of "Who Killed Cockrobin," the saying around the local boosters' association is "Who turned the Awning." It all comes about because an awning in the Hawaiian Trust Company caught on fire on May 24 and the fire department was called out.

The owner of the wing naturally imagined that someone had carelessly dropped a fire from above. The above, of course, meant the chamber of Commerce. Upon inquiry Raymond C. Brown stated that he had not joined the incendiary corps and he immediately called upon the Hawaii Promotion Committee for report.

At the meeting yesterday afternoon members of the committee formed themselves into an investigation committee to ascertain by the awning was burned. Chairman Emil Bernad does not smoke. That let him out. Albert P. Taylor has stopped smoking for five days and did not begin again until after the fire. Ed Towse usually sits near the window, and of course might have been responsible. The investigation committee is now out. As yet the awning has not been paid for.

ALLEGED 'GANG' HOLDS SWAY AT WAIKIKI BEACH

Break up the Waikiki gang; cut out the rough stuff on the beach—this was the essence of the prosecution's plea to Judge Monaghan in the police court today in the case of Archie Boyd, accused of assaulting George H. Willey, manager of Heinie's Tavern. Boyd was found guilty and fined $50.

Apparently an ordinary "fight" case, the trial developed this morning into a plea of law-abiding citizens for order and decency about Honolulu's great playing place, Waikiki Beach.

Attorney Frank Thompson represented the prosecution "in the interests of Honolulu's respectable citizens," he said. As an old friend of Boyd's father, Attorney William J. Sheldon took the young man's part.

Thompson told the court that Boyd was one of a big "hoodlum" gang that was bulldozing Waikiki Beach patrons. The attorney let out on this class of toughs.

Testimony showed that on the night of May 20 Heinie's Tavern, Boyd struck Willey without provocation and knocked him down. It was said by several witnesses that "Boyd was pretty drunk. It is said he also cursed frightfully in the presence of women and broke wine glasses in the bar. The whole trouble seems to have started when Willey asked Boyd to pay his bill and informed him that he had no credit at Heinie's Tavern."

"New York has its Bowery; Chicago, Detroit, San Francisco, all have their tough places," said Thompson, "and that's what a certain gang is trying to make out of Waikiki Beach. There is a bunch of drunken derelicts like 'Steamboat Bill' and 'Tough Bill' that needs cleaning out. Their very names suggest their character."

Attorney Sheldon pleaded for the son of a friend, saying that everyone sowed some wild oats and that this was a simple case of reaping.

SAY ROOT IS MAN 'BIG INTERESTS' WOULD ELECT

That the "big men" of the Republican party have used the Hughes boom of kill Col. Roosevelt's chances and are now quietly grooming Ex-Senator Root to come in at the last moment and displace Hughes in the convention is the declaration of the political writer of the New York World.

The World also published some interesting comment on the activities of Frank H. Hitchcock, who is now in Chicago apparently heading the Hughes campaign. The World says:

"By bringing up Root the managers of the party have two chances to win. One is to force the hand of the Colonel and extort the sort of terms they will demand; the other to put over Root if they can finally drag the Colonel into accepting him, or as a third alternative compel the Colonel to throw the weight of his influence to a man acceptable to the Root and Hughes following—McCall, Harding, Fairbanks, Wadsworth, who seem to be the most likely of the entries without records offensive to either faction."

"The basis of the Root strength is the South, plus the professional financial interests buttressed by 'Big Business.' The recent activities in the South of the resourceful organization engaged in promoting the boom for Mr. Root has brought to light the fact that a good many delegates from that section of the country have been 'tied up' for him."

Hitchcock's Work in the South.
"Former Postmaster General Hitchcock has been gumshoeing around the Southern states publicly talking Hughes and privately signing up delegates for Root. It would be surprising if four-fifths of the eminent financiers who have had themselves elected delegates to the 'straight goods' convention did not display a pronounced degree of fondness for him."

"There is the word of one of the regular managers that more than 300 delegates would like to vote for Root if they thought he could be elected. A point that cannot be overlooked is that they are sceptical of his value as a vote-getter against Mr. Wilson. 'Up to date there have been 817 delegates elected, with 163 yet to be chosen. Of these 539, or 46 more than a majority, are 'uninstructed' and regarded as 'friendly' to Col. Roosevelt, while 276 have been 'instructed' or have indicated their preference for Hughes, Roosevelt, Root, Sherman, Fairbanks, Burton, Cummins, Weeks, Ford, La Follette, du Pont, McCall, Harding, Borah or Wadsworth."
